CARNIVAL APPROACH TO NEW STUDENT
FALL ORIENTATION TO BE USED AT UM

MISSOULA--

A different approach to orientation for new students will be tried this fall at the University of Montana in Missoula. From 4-9 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 25, various campus organizations will operate carnival booths on the UM Oval.

Monte Beck, student assistant at the UM Office of Student Affairs, said the carnival approach will be used at UM this fall to introduce the different organizations on the UM campus to freshmen and transfer students.

Beck said the 1974 UM Activities Fair will serve three purposes in addition to introducing the University to new students. Entertainment, organizational exposure and involving new students in campus activities also are goals of the carnival orientation, according to Beck.

More than 30 campus organizations will have booths or will sponsor events, Beck said, and more UM departments have expressed an interest in involvement.

Cochairmen of the 1974 UM Activities Fair are Judy Lance and Don McCammon.
